The Construction Institute (CI) of the American Society of Civil Engineers developed a program that brings top engineering students from across the country together with potential employers who are seeking new talent. Student Days events give students the information and tools they need to stand out in a competitive job market while providing engineering recruiters with unique opportunities to get up close and personal with a stellar pool of candidates.

“I learned so much about civil engineering at #CIStudentDays and it was for sure one of the coolest engineering events I have gone to. Thanks to everyone who was involved!”

- Daylan Toledo, University of Arizona (2018 Participant)

“I met a lot of great people – people from all different backgrounds in civil engineering… I got to talk with the professionals about what they work on in the field and also got to work on a real-world project, something you wouldn’t normally get to do in a classroom.”

- Anthony Feeney, Rowan University (2017 Participant)
BECOME A SUPPORTER – CI STUDENT DAYS

Become a sponsor of CI Student Days and showcase your organization to top engineering students from across the country, and professionals! As a sponsor, you’ll have the opportunity to be recognized on the event signage, recognition as a supporter of the ASCE Foundation, your organization’s logo on the Student Days website, and more!
